Federal amusement ticket taxes

Detroit Tigers ticket from June 29, 1933, with tax adding 10 cents to the price of a $1.00 ticket. This is just a few days after the 1933 tax changes went into effect.

by Scott Troutman, ARA

In an earlier article (Troutman, 2002) I had examined the federal tax on an Army-Navy game ticket and introduced the idea that tickets with taxes shown on them, may well constitute an relatively unexplored arena of revenue collecting. This article explores more of the history of federal amusement taxation.

Some might ask, can a ticket really be a stamp? Or is the tax indicia on a ticket really a stamp? According to Black's Law Dictionary (Black, 1951) a stamp is "an impression made by public authority, in pursuance of law, upon paper or parchment, upon which certain legal processing, conveyance or contracts are required to be written and for which a tax or duty is extracted." Old train tickets which have RN type stamps imprinted in the paper clearly meet the legal definition. So, too, documents with embossed RM stamps. In the state arena, tax tags attached to bags of fertilizer or buckets of shrimp seem to meet the criteria. A ticket issued by a Florida state park, which shows a 5% tax was paid is a little more nebulous but still meets the legal definition as it was a "public authority" that issued the ticket.

In the case of amusement tickets under the federal laws, the taxing indicia was required to be put on the ticket by law and the laws spelled out rather specifically how it had to be done. They had to show that tax was being extracted. Thus the "in pursuance of the law" part of the definition is met. What disqualifies most tickets as stamps is that they were not produced by a public authority. Rather they were made by the shows promoters in compliance with the laws. So are these stamps? Probably not. [See "What are revenues?" on page X.]

It turns out tickets showing tax payment are more difficult to find than I would have expected given that the laws were in effect continuously from 1926 to 1965. You can find plenty of old tickets on e-Bay but it's surprising how few show tax payment. But what you find has a lot of variety.

The laws taxing amusement tickets started in 1926 (Treasury Decisions Under Internal Revenue Laws of the U.S., Vol 23, Jan 1926–Dec 1926. Treasury Decision 3872 and Vol 34, Jan 1937–Dec 1938. Treasury Decisions 4369 and 4379). Let me recap some of the peculiarities of the 1926 law. Only tickets over 75 cents were taxed, hence this was a luxury tax. A movie ticket was usually 10 cents so these taxes were on big ticket items initially. If the ticket was sold at places like "newstands, hotels and other places other than the ticket offices of such theaters, operas, or other places of amusement, at not to exceed 50 cents in excess of the sum of the established price therefore" (Session Laws of the Sixty-Ninth Congress, Session I, Chapter 27, Title V, 1926, pp 92–103) then the tax jumped to 20%. If these intermediate agents or brokers charged more than 50 cents for their services then an additional tax of 50% on the amount over 50 cents was added. Roof gardens, cabarets or "similar entertainment" had a 15% tax. If "the charge for admission is wholly or part included in the price paid for refreshment, service or merchandise," in others words it had a cover charge, then the tax was at 20%. Complimentary passes were taxed at the rate of a regular ticket price. Swimming pool tickets were taxed as an amusement and so were admissions to skating rinks, beaches, etc.

Box seats and season tickets were taxed at 10% of whatever the price would have been, had you bought individual game tickets for those same seats.

There were lots of exclusions. If the ticket was for an educational, religious or charity

Hoffman 3 Ring Circus ticket at the 20% rate from 1944.

Two tickets for the World in Wax Musee at Coney Island. The 25-cent ticket reflects the 20% higher war tax. The 20-cent ticket is from the 1950s. function they were not taxed.

Agricultural fairs were not taxed. The same was true for societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals, groups which supported symphony orchestras, or which worked to improve "city, town, village or other municipality" or which supported war veterans, the armed forces, police, firemen, the National Guard or groups like the USO. This eliminated the tax on most dances and all but professional sporting events. "Spoken plays" were not taxed so most stage plays and chataquas avoided taxation. A musical or opera could have been taxed.

One part of this law placed a 10% on dues or membership fees (where the dues or fees were over $10 a year) to social, athletic or sporting clubs, and it also applied to initiation fees to organizations if they were over $10. As tickets were not produced for these charges, I will not track the changes to the 1945 ticket at 20% for the New Year's Eve show at the Hollywood Palladium featuring Gene Krupa and his Orchestra.

16-cent Interlaken Park amusement park ticket from Fairmont, Minnesota, with 20% federal tax. The lowest admission price I have acquired with tax.

On admissions tickets the charges had to be broken out on the ticket as the price for the event, the federal tax, other taxes and then the total ticket price. Some of the Internal Revenue tax decisions spelled this out in detail.

In 1928, the law was amended (Session Laws of the Seventieth Congress, Session I, Chapter 532, 1928, pps 863-864) to exclude tax on tickets up to $3. Fights or boxing matches charging over $5 were taxed at a 25% rate. In that time period this would probably only have been on major fights or World Championships. Brokers were now allowed to charge up to 75 cents for their services tax free. Above that they owed 50% of what they charged in taxes.

Rare dance ticket with federal tax at 20% in 1949.

In 1933 Tax Decision 4369, effective June 23, 1933, held that reporters covering the events were exempt from tax. So too were people required to put on the event such as circus roustabouts or ambulance crews at a football game. The big change was that this law lowered the price of taxable tickets to 41 cents or more. A lot more events were now taxable. A specific exclusion was made for tickets to the Olympics.

July 1, 1938 (Codifications of Internal Revenue Laws, Internal Revenue Code, Vol. 53 No. 1, U.S. Statutes at Large, 1939 pps 189-194) more amendments to the tax laws were made. Free tickets or complimentary tickets were now taxed and the tax had to be paid on the normal ticket price. One goofy bit of lawmaking was a definition of a spoken play. It could have music or be a musical. But it had to have at least two acts and run for 105 minutes. It also could not be produced by mechanical means. I do not know that would have covered as they were not talking about motion pictures, but rather some kind of mechanical contraptions used a circuses is my guess. One wonders what genius of the time lobbied for these changes and whose job it was to go out and time the plays.

In 1940 (Session Laws of the 76th Congress, 3rd Session, Chapter 419, p 523), with war in Europe underway, a Defense tax was 1950s Washington, Ohio, movie ticket for 40 cents at reduced 10% rate.

1950s ticket to Liberty Theatre in Columbus, Kansas with 10% federal tax and a 3-mill Kansas state tax.

passed which added to the admissions taxes in three categories. Box seats now got an addition 1% of tax, with a new rate of 11%.

Sales through brokers also had the rate increased to 11%. And cabarets were taxed at 20% across the board, never mind worrying about cover charges. The ticket price that was taxable was once again lowered, this time to 21 cents or above. Most movies were still under that range.

Effective March 6, 1944 (Session Laws of the 78th Congress, 2nd Session, Chapter 63, p 61, February 25, 1944), with World War II raging, the amusement taxes were raised to 20% including box seats. The minimum price for a taxable ticket eliminated. Cabaret tickets jumped to a 30% tax rate. The soldiers must have protested, as on July 1, 1944, the cabaret tickets were reduced back to a 20% tax. A provision in this law was that the old rates would be reinstated six months after the war's end. Like most provisions of this kind, they were never implemented.

In 1951 (Public Law 183, October 20, 1951, p 519-520), the Congress made some odd adjustments. Swimming pool, beach and skating rink admissions taxes were eliminated and taxes on complimentary passes were eliminated. A really strange provision of this law was that athletic contests between elementary or secondary school children were not exempt unless all the proceeds went to the schools or charities. The same was true of carnivals, circuses or rodeos. If the performers got paid, even if the net profits went to charities, the tickets were taxable. You wonder who was worried about the money those second graders were pulling in.

It was not until 1954 (Public Law 324, March 31, 1954, pp 37-39) when Congress lowered admission taxes back down to 10%. The goofy provisions of the 1951 change on school contests and rodeos and such was undone. Ticket prices taxed went up to events charging 51 cents or more.

In 1959 (Internal Revenue Codes of 1959, Chapter 33, SubSection 4231, passed August 6, 1959), cabaret and roof gardens remained taxed at 20% and a new tax was put on admissions to horse and dog tracks of 20%. Exemptions were added for historic sites, museums and planetariums and "home and garden tours." Amateur theatre performances were now mostly exempt. Concerts conducted by community organizations were added to the exemption list. And amateur and semi-profession baseball games were excluded so long as no stockholders were gaining profit.

The admission taxes were ended on June 21, 1965 (Public Law 89-44, June 21, 1965, pp 144-146). The bad news was they started taxing telephone service instead.

Taxed tickets for professional sports and college bowl games seem to be the easiest to find but are some of the priciest to acquire. They run from $20-100. Championship fight stubs are also very pricey. Movie tickets are some of the cheapest available running in the $4-10 range, but are usually only found from the time period when there was no minimum price. Tougher to locate are tickets to ice follies, circuses, amusement parks, wax museums, musical entertainments and dances. Most of these are reasonably priced for under $15. After several years of looking I have yet to spot one from the 1920s. Curiously 1957 is the last year I have been able to find taxed tickets. The taxes appear to have come off football bowl games about that time.

My special thanks to Ron Leshar who acquired most of the tax laws for me on a trip to Washington, D.C.

What are revenues?

The subject of what are revenues once again has been posed by author Scott Troutman in the previous article. He quotes Black's Law Dictionary as his authority. In the past several years several attempts have been made to describe what is permissible in revenue exhibits, both at the national and international levels. What follows has been distributed by the FIP in the description of the exhibiting disciplines:

Revenues are issued by or under the authority of a nation, state, municipal or other governmental unit and serve one of three purposes: to show that a tax has been paid, a fee for a governmental service has been paid or that the purchaser has a monetary credit with a governmental entity.

The reason for stating that they are issued by or under the authority of government is obvious when examining the standard catalogs. Numerous provisionals have been created by private companies and certainly are a part of the history of taxation. Examples from the U.S. include the Dr. K provisionals (Scott RS307-315), the unlisted St. Louis provisionals used in July, 1898 that are footnoted in the Scott Specialized, and several of the narcotics tax stamps (Scott RJA26-29B).

Troutman stops short of accepting the tickets as stamps because they were not produced by the governmental authorities. There are too many examples of private efforts that are currently accepted to stop short in this case. They were produced in compliance with law and regulation. Let them join the ranks of revenue stamps!

Revenue Stamped Paper and Adhesive Revenue Stamps of Belgium 1648-2003 by Emile J. Van den Panhuyzen. 173 pages, A4, perfect bound, priced (in Euros), illustrated (all in color), in English. Published by and available from the author (Avenue des Lauriers Cerises 14, 1950 Kraainem, Belgium) for $60 plus shipping ($5 for Europe or $10 for other countries).

This beautifully produced piece of fiscal philatelic literature is divided into two parts—the revenue stamped paper (starting in 1648 with issues of the old provinces, the Spanish Netherlands, the Austrian Netherlands and issues of various occupation forces and finally the free state of Belgium 1830-2003. The second part contains the various adhesive issues from 1857 through the Euro issues of 2001.

The stamped revenue paper is not priced nor are the listings numbered. It might be expected that the very early listings represent what is now known to collectors but not necessarily complete. Additionally some of the adhesives for excise duty such as Mossy wines, mineral water and tobacco are not numbered and only some stamps priced.

But everything is well illustrated. This catalog is based on the author's international Large Gold medal collection. Documents or portions of documents are illustrated so that the imprinted or embossed stamps can clearly be seen; where they are not so clear, excellent drawings of the stamp accompany the illustrations. Adhesives are all illustrated and many are shown on various types of documents. While not a complete substitute for actually viewing the author's exhibit, this catalog certainly must be an acceptable substitute. It is highly recommended for all interested in fiscal literature.

Civil War Era Occupational Licenses, 1863-1873 (ISBN 0-9619611-1-2, LCCN 2002111703) by John Alan Hicks. 219 pages, 107 illustrations, 11 in color, 4 tables, 8 1/2 x 11 inches, hard bound, 2004. Available from the publisher, John Alan Hicks, 2 South Hill Court, Morristown, New Jersey 07960. Price $95.00 plus $5.00 shipping. New Jersey residents add 6% sales tax.

The Hicks volume on the Civil War occupational licenses is important for at least two reasons. Philatelically the book fills an important void by cataloging one of the few remaining less trodden territories in U.S. federal revenues. The Hicks classification of these licenses will set the standard for generations to come. This is a serious and careful study of the licenses and special tax stamps that would later be produced by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The author's logical structure suggests that there may be additional varieties that await discovery and he has left room in his cataloging scheme for them to be inserted. While it has long been known that some of these licenses were printed by private printers, the author's careful research in the National Archives shows that most of the extant examples were printed by the Government Printing Office.

Secondly, it is hard to underestimate the importance of this story. While most ARA members are familiar with the more popular first issue revenue taxes initiated in 1862, such taxation of financial documents with the use of adhesive stamps has been completely abandoned since the end of 1967. These licenses serve as a bridge between the earlier RM stamped still, liquor, and merchandise licenses of the first decade following the founding of the United States, the similar licenses in the 1814-1817 period, and the later special tax stamps. As the renamed special tax stamps, these licenses remain a part of the taxation of businesses to the present day. Hicks tells the important story of the licenses' encounter with the judicial branch of government and the legislative response as the licenses evolved into the annual occupational tax which we see as the Special Tax Stamp posted conspicuously in every retail liquor establishment in America today.

Hicks concludes each section on a given license type with comments on usage, bringing to life the government's taxation of businesses and unusual features of some of the licenses such as added penalties which were imposed when businesses were brought into compliance with the law. The author has examined almost 500 licenses, far more than

Distilled Spirits (including brandy) taxpaid stamps a trial listing

By Ronald E. Leshner, ARA

What follows is a trial listing of the distilled spirits tax paid stamps, based on the Springfield List (1912), a privately circulated listing by John Bobo, and the records of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing (some of which are in the National Archives). An x indicates items that have been seen by the author. If readers have copies of any stamps not reported herein, they are urged to contact the author. No attempt has been made to price these stamps. It is expected that sufficient interest and activity will be generated so that prices based on sales can be included in the next edition of this listing.

One innovation in this listing is that stamps prepared for brandy are also included in this listing. Initially distilled spirits could only be shipped from the distillery in casks of 20 gallons or more. Special regulations (authorized by the law) were initiated in 1869 to permit casks as small as 10 gallons for brandy. All ten gallon stamps were suitably inscribed with a special inscription designating their use for brandy until the Series of 1878. Although the first stamps of the Series of 1878 contained the brandy designation, this designation was eventually eliminated probably in the mid-1880s. No separate designation on the 10 gallon stamps was made for the next 50 years. In 1938 when the tax rate on distilled spirits was raised from $2.00 to $2.25 per proof gallon, the rate on brandy was retained at $2.00. At this time provisional values were surcharged and in 1940 a separate set of brandy taxpays was introduced. Rather than classify the brandy taxpays separately, it was thought that their close association with the distilled spirits taxpays made their inclusion logical. The fact that the brandy designation was an on again, off again occurrence over the period of use of the distilled spirits taxpays added further weight to their inclusion with the rest of the distilled spirits taxpaid stamps.

Likewise, the Nonbeverage Distilled Spirits stamps of the Prohibition Era (1920–1933) have been included for many of the same reasons as the brandy stamps.

The Springfield List (1912) contains a note before the Series of 1871 regarding a provisional issued by "Inspector O'Donnell" [see page 85]. It is the reasoned opinion of the author that this is a facsimile for O'Donnell's O. K. (Old Kentucky) Bourbon. The example in the author's collection is complete with coupons reading 41 through 45 gallons at the top in imitation of the government tax paid stamps.

The mystery of Inspector O'Donnell's provisional

by Ronald E. Leshner, ARA

Preceding the listing of the Series of 1871 Distilled Spirits stamp in the venerable Springfield List (1912) is the following note:

"A provisional stamp was issued by "Inspector O'Donnell" on account of shortage of regular stamp in 1871. No figures of value. Orange and black."

Provisionals are avidly sought after, for these are often the items that bring depth to a collection and add points for philatelic knowledge to an exhibit. As I have pursued the nineteenth century distilled spirits stamps, the above quoted lines had been burned into my memory. Many years ago I remember asking dealers and collectors whether they had ever seen this item. I never received an affirmative answer. Included in the list of collectors was the late Ernest Wilkens, who was the keenest student of U.S. tax-payers. Although his collection contained many other provisionals, even he had never seen the item in question.

Years ago I combed the lists of government employees seeking the name and location of an IRS inspector by the name of O'Donnell. My search proved fruitless, adding to the mystery of what part of the country might have seen the use of the O'Donnell provisional.

The illustrated stamp appeared as lot 61

Eric Jackson's auction number 117 that appeared in the October 1996 issue of The American Revenuer. It was properly described as a facsimile. I was not the winning bidder; in fact, I wasn't even a bidder as the deadline sneaked by me. Even though I was not the successful bidder, the item soon came to reside in my collection.

The condition is typical for used distilled spirits stamps of the time. The four corners are missing and there is a hole in the center, all reminders of the government requirement for five nails to be used to affix the stamp to the cask. There are also the five wavy lines applied by stencil, another ubiquitous reminder of the government cancellation requirements. And finally there is the coat of varnish or shellac to "protect" the stamp.

However, it is in the details of the wording on the stamp that we have the proof that this stamp is a facsimile of the government stamp and that a genuine distilled spirits taxpaid stamp was on the same cask, probably tied to the cask by the same five wavy line cancellation. There is a package number printed in red, 9609. To the right of the package number is a space to enter the number of the government stamp; it has been added in manuscript A395428. This number creates some curiosity, since a six-digit number seems unlikely so soon after the Series of 1872 Distilled Spirits stamp came into use.

The top of the facsimile contains coupons like the government stamp and they have been cut to show that it was placed on a cask containing 45 gallons of "O'Donnell's O.K. [Old Kentucky] Bourbon." The text of the lower section of the facsimile is interesting,

This certifies that I have analyzed a sample of O'Donnell's O.K. Distilled White Wheat Whisky at the Distillery at Covington, Ky. and have found it a remarkably pure Whisky free from foreign admixtures and from the various injurious products resulting from careless manipulation in the ordinary processes of the manufacture of Whisky.

I guarantee all the O. K. Whisky with this stamp attached to be genuine and pure.

The facsimile was printed by Ehr Gott & Krebs, Cincinnati.

So we can cross out the footnote referring to a provisional stamp and insert a new note about a whisky facsimile. Distilled spirits was not the only category of stamp facsimiles. Contemporaneous with tax stamps there are the facsimiles of the imported cigar stamps and some imported opium facsimiles known. The government itself would soon prohibit stamp look alikes. The reason for stamp look alikes is fairly obvious; they did not wish to run the risk that government agents would mistake them for the tax stamps. After all, this one fooled the revenue stamp collectors for almost a hundred years!

Review: Civil War Era Occupational Licenses/ from page 71

most collectors will ever see in a lifetime.

The book concludes with some very useful material for the stamp collector, descriptions of the evolving list of occupations, tables of the rates of tax imposed on the businesses, a glossary, and a chronology of the various Civil War revenue measures.

This volume has been produced with exacting standards of quality and hard bound to withstand frequent consultation when a new license is offered for sale. It is an indispensable reference volume for the collector of these licenses, for it brings organization and much new information to a field that to date has remained a mystery for those of us who may have had perhaps five to ten examples in our personal collections. One might hesitate to acquire this volume because of the cost. If you have any interest in the various aspects of the July 1, 1862 law that created the Bureau of Internal Revenue, this book must be in your philatelic library.

It's a Wrap! U.S. Revenue Stamps Used on Playing Cards, 1862-1883, by Kristin Patterson, 2003, San Jose, CA, privately published, Library of Congress Control Number 2003096405. Available from the author, see <http://www.swanassoc.com/itsawrap/> for current price and shipping costs.

If you collect playing card stamps and cancels in the 1862-1883 period this work is a must for your library. The full color scans of the many playing card deck wrappers with stamps affixed is eye candy for viewer and provides the reader with ample illustration of how the stamps were used, something that most of us see only very occasionally. I counted an impressive 48 wrappers or boxes with stamps still affixed. In many cases the author also illustrates the Ace of Spades or the backs of the cards which came in the box or wrapper. Visually this is impressive.

This work brings together the latest information on the known cancellations, another plus for the revenue stamp collector. Until now collectors have had to rely upon the pioneering work of the late Morton Dean Joyce which was published in the December 1931 and January 1932 issues of The American Philatelist. The author has gathered all the ensuing research on these cancels in the current book and to the best of my knowledge it is available nowhere else. The author has also corrected the misattribution of the C.B. cancel, which Joyce and others of the time believed to be Caterson Brotz. Current scholarship attributes this cancel to Charles Bartlet

This book is an important effort by a relative newcomer to the field. She has succeeded in delivering a useful work that should be of interest to both playing card collectors (for whom the taxation is a minor part of the story) and revenue stamp collectors (for whom the cards themselves might be a minor part of the story). The book may become a focus for both types of collectors to find a common ground and encourage the exchange of information from which we will all become more knowledgeable.

This is a first effort at publishing by the author. One does not have to read very far into the book to see this. There are a fair number of wrong words that have become a bane for those of us who rely upon spell checkers. On page 10 we see "sensitive color dies (sic);" I suspect that "dyes" was intended. Elliot Perry, writing under the pen name of Christopher West described the Willcox's Chameleon Paper as a medium paper impregnated with chemicals which were activated by either an acid or an alkali (the two most common means of removing cancellations), releasing either a red or blue (or both) coloring matter.

Three pages later we find a table of the "states succeeding (sic) from the Union." They "seceded!" A good independent reader and editor should have caught these slips of the spell checker.

The book needs an editor to make sure that the tables will make sense to the reader. For the life of me I cannot fathom why some of the paper types in Table 2-11 (page 12) are out of chronological order. As we follow the progression of contract printers from Butler & Carpenter (and, after the death of Butler, the successor firm of Joseph R. Carpenter) through the National Bank Note Company, The American Bank Note Company, and finally the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, we suddenly are pulled back to the Carpenter firm again. Further, the author misses that the experimental silk paper of the private die proprietary stamps and the silk paper of the first issue revenues are one and the same paper. The more common silk paper of the private die proprietary stamps (which the author lists as being used on the first issue revenues) did not come into use until after the first issue revenues had been replaced with the two-color general proprietary stamps (Scott RB1-10).

The warts notwithstanding, the color illustrations and the lists of cancels will well serve the interested revenue stamp or playing card collector. Don't wait for the promised second edition.

Playing card tax stamps—some resources

by Paul A. Nelson, ARA

The playing card has long been the subject of taxation by many countries, and it continues to have a “sin tax” in some locations.

There are some internet resources, as well as some organizations of collectors of playing cards and card games, that can provide information and, possibly, some material for your collections.

One of the best I have found is a website from Peter Endebrock of Germany. The address is <<http://www.endebrock.de/>> and there are English language pages as well as the German ones. Peter shows a large number of tax stamps and gives a bit of their background, from many countries and collectors. He also has an excellent page with links to other sites, so plan on a few minutes of research when you visit Peter’s site.

An organization without a website, but with a good journal, is from Sweden. The journal is Kartofilen, and the editor is Ali Jerremalm. Ali has just moved. His email is <alijerremalm@hotmail.com> and his new postal address is Björkkulav 43, SE-424 Olofstorp, Sweden. Membership is 200 Swedish crowns for members outside Europe. ## Cal-Rev report—April

By Joe Ross, ARA

Interesting events the last few months. With the help of member Don Lueck, Cal-Rev held an impromptu meeting at ARIPEX in Mesa, Arizona. The meeting was a typical meet-and-greet, show-and-tell which prompted three revenue collectors to join Cal-Rev, Frank Daigle from Scottsdale, Arizona, Tony Marks from Santa Fe, New Mexico, and Gary Weiss of Webster, Texas. The show was exceptionally good for revenue exhibitors. Don Green won the Reserve Grand for Patent Medicine Companies Subject to the Revenue Act of 1862. Michael Jaffe, Gold, for Waterfowl Hunting Permit Stamps: Federal-State-Indian. Mark Meany, Gold, for a ten-frame exhibit on RW-1 titled First Migratory Bird Hunting Stamp. Dr. Gerald Boarino, a frequent writer on Haiti Revenues in The American Revenuer, won a Vermeil on Haitian Revenues Paper and Stamps, 1811–1999. This is the first time I have seen Haitian stamped paper from the 1800s. After the show several of the Cal-Rev members got together for dinner. It was great to see so many revenue exhibits.

Fourteen revenue collectors attended the Cal-Rev meeting at Easter Seals Show in April. Kevin Dailey shared some of his California hunting and fishing stamps with us and joined Cal-Rev. Jim Busse talked about his effort on the German tobacco catalog. He has just received about 8,000 modern tobacco stamps from Germany.

A couple of new catalogs were passed around, The Impressed Duty Stamps of Ireland by William Barber and Frank Brown, and the Revenue Stamps of Jordan by Joe Ross and Avo Kaplanian. John Johnson continues to compile information on the Butler Carpenter printings of the US First Issue revenues.

George Condas talked about the Greek pension stamps. The pelican symbol used on Mountaineering and skiing head the list of sporting activities in Switzerland, the land of the towering Alps. Who can imagine a more beautiful setting to go fishing?

This license illustrated was issued in Morges, Canton Vaud, on October 10, 2000. Morges, a ten-centuries-old yachting port on Lake Geneva, is the former home of pianist and statesman Ignace Paderewski. The two-Franc stamp is inscribed "TAXE DE PECHE 00." The stamp is a light violet with "Fr. 2.-" overprinted in red. In the center of the stamp is a fish, maybe a bass.

Fishing is allowed only with a day card and only one fishing rod per person is authorized. Every catch must be recorded immediately in the specially provided fields of the fishing permit. You will note the row of numbers 1-5 on the left side of the license. The catches are recorded by simply making a small tear through the number. Apparently the limit was five fish in a day. Every fish which is longer than than 22 cm. must be kept by the fisherman. A fine of Fr. 20.- per fish is imposed for any catch which is not recorded immediately. The fisherman have to show their day card at once if they are asked to do so by the guard. Any violation of the above mentioned regulations is subject to a minimum fine of Fr. 100.-. The Cantonal law is applicable for every point which is not written on the license.

There are four fishing license stamps listed in Gainon issued by Canton Vaud. Anyone with additional information about other fishing license stamps from Switzerland is invited to correspond with the author directly. You may contact Donn Lueck at Box 11582, Phoenix, AZ 85061 or by email at <donn3@earth link.net>.

The Revenue Journal of Great Britain—March 2004

An index to Volumes I-XIV (whole numbers 1-56) of The Revenue Journal of Great Britain is an important tool found in the March 2004 issue of this journal. The nine pages of this listing show just what a broad range of subjects articles in this publication have covered.

The concluding part three of Alan Griffiths's "New South Wales—the Second Series Duty Stamps (The De La Rue 'long' Stamps)" includes a discussion of issues from 1882 through 1901. A commentary and conclusion ends the series.

Taking a step backward in time, L. G. Kelly and R. H. Champion illustrate and discuss a document which is an "Appointment of a Receiver of Taxes in France for King Henry VI of England in 1426." Lawrence Armitage continues his "Great Britain—Taxes on Tea, Coffee, Chocolate and Cocoa-nuts: 300 years of Customs and Excise duties imposed since 1660." This article takes up in the mid-1770s and ends with the duty on chocolate in 1781, on coffee in 1946 and on tea in 1956. Well at least the Bostonians ended the duty on tea here somewhat earlier than that.

Dave Elsmore and Dingle Smith provide the reader with an examination of "The Cypher Labels of New South Wales and Queensland." These were the small seals used on the back of documents to cover the ends of a metal foil staple used to attach paper to parchment or vellum documents prior to embossing with duty stamps.

This issue also includes the normal reviews and commentary by the editor. The Revenue Journal of Great Britain is published quarterly by The Revenue Society of Great Britain and is included as part of the annual dues (£15 in the UK and £20 overseas). For more information contact their Secretary, Tony Hall (57 Brandles Road, Letchworth, Herts SG6 2JA, UK) or at <rs.gb.hall@talk21.com>.

The Revenue Stamps of Jordan & the Occupied Territory (West Bank)

by Joe Ross & Avo Kaplanian

The Revenue Stamps of Jordan & the Occupied Territory (West Bank) by Joe Ross & Avo Kaklanian covers all the known revenue and fiscal stamps issued in Jordan since the British Mandate in 1920. It includes the documentary revenue issues, the tax paid revenues and other specific revenues such as Airport Departure, Consular, Passport, Lawyer Pension etc. Two special sections have been incorporated into the catalog viz. the West Bank under Jordanian rule, 1948–1967, and the West Bank under Israeli occupation, 1967–up till now. The catalog ends with the only revenue issues from the “State of Palestine” and the “Palestinian Authority.”

The basis for this catalog was an original 14 page draft that was published for CAL-REV members over four years ago. The 8.5 x 11 catalog contains 81 pages with 210 color illustrations and has comb binding. The retail price is $40 postage paid in the US, Overseas postage by Air add $10.

The American Revenue Association

President's Letter

Stamp shows have been extremely busy so far this year. I have attended three, in Sarasota, Florida, St. Louis, Missouri and New York City. Revenue stamps and related material, along with everything else for that matter, were in big demand at all three shows. Auctions, mail order and internet sales are also very active. The stamp market is the strongest. It has been in quite some time. What this means is that if you see something you want, don't delay as it may go elsewhere while you think about it.

Speaking of stamp shows, our 2004 annual convention is being held in conjunction with the Philadelphia National Stamp Exhibition on October 1-3. Location is the Valley Forge Convention Center in Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. Please make your plans to attend and exhibit now. Plans are underway for an ARA dinner on Friday night. We also plan to have several seminars about revenue stamps, a membership meeting, and maintain an ARA table at the show. If you can assist manning the table or would like to present a seminar, please contact me now.

The National Postal Museum had not, to the best of my knowledge, scrapped their plans to destroy most of the revenue stamps they have. I encourage all our members to write to Mr. Allen Kane, Director, National Postal Museum, Smithsonian Institution, P.O. Box 37012, Washington, D.C. 37012, Fax 202-786-2737. Tell him the destruction of stamps is wrong and that all of the stamps should be made available to philately so that we may enjoy them. I am not aware of any museum intentionally destroying anything, ever. The problem is there are a number of very prominent philatelists, many of them members of the American Philatelic Society, advocating this destruction. It is a despicable situation. Perhaps we can turn this around, but we have to make our thoughts known.

I have a page on my website, <<http://www.ericjackson.com/editorial.htm>>, where you can comment and vote on this issue. Please visit and participate. The results will be forwarded to the director of the National Postal Museum.
